

Paint Me A Ship

ROBERT CARTER

Paint Me A Ship is a unique, luxurious, full-colour publication intended for readers interested in marine art and the history it captures.

In Part I Robert Carter has collated over 30 major new paintings completed since the publication of his first book, Windjammers – The Final Story, each with historical and artistic notes. He also includes a chapter with rare insights and practical information for how to capture the sea, sky and weather conditions so that a painted ship truly looks like a ship – all shared generously from a lifetime of painting.

In Part II he has gathered together outstanding examples of contemporary marine paintings, models and scrimshaw, created by members of the Australian Society of Marine Artists. The book celebrates the 20th anniversary of the Society and includes over 70 works he considers to be equal to the world's best.

About the author

Robert Carter is a widely regarded authority on the square-rigged ship, his knowledge the result of 50 years study and maritime research. As a member of the Australian Cape Horners Association, he made contact with the last living sailors to round Cape Horn in a commercial sailing ship and interviewed them, ensuring authenticity in depicting the last tall ships and their global voyages, which he documented in his first book WINDJAMMERS – The Final Story. He was awarded the St Malo Medal by the International Association of Cape Horners for his significant contribution.

In 2011 he was awarded the Order of Australia medal for his services to the Arts 'through the research, illustration and recording of the history of the last commercial sailing ships'.

Robert was instrumental in the founding of the Australian Society of Marine Artists in 1996 and currently holds the role of President.
